[North American Mycoflora Project] Continental MycoBlitz 2019

2019 Online Foray

Welcome to the first online, continental-scale mushroom foray to take place on planet earth. Together with National Geographic and iNaturalist, we are working to document all of the macrofungi that exist in North America. A continent-wide online foray will be conducted from August 12 - 19, 2019. To participate just review the online training, post your observations to the iNaturalist project during the foray week, and submit your ten most interesting collections to our processing facility. Over 2,000 specimens from the event will be selected for DNA sequencing. Your most interesting finds can help us to understand the mushrooms of North America. We look forward to discovering fungi with you!

49th Annual MSSF Fungus Fair
Hall of Flowers (SF County Fair Building)
Golden Gate Park (Lincoln at 9th)
San Francisco, CA

10 am - 5 pm

In the San Francisco Bay Area, when the first rains tease up the chanterelles and porcini, fungus lovers head to the Fungus Fair: A Celebration of Wild Mushrooms.

Hands-on activities at the Fungus Fair include crafts, mushroom dyes, and do-it-yourself mushroom growing kits.

We have many educational tables on varied subjects such as:

- Identification table - bring your specimens to find out what you found!
- medicinal mushrooms
- myco-remediation
- cultivation
- ecology
- lichens
- psychedelic fungi
- toxicology
- microscopes and spore prints

There will be a naturalistic woodland display and tables with more than 300 identified species of locally collected fungi.

Dogs or other pets are not allowed inside the SF County Fair Building, with the exception of service/guide dogs (City Ordinance 603-81, Park Code 5.02).
